DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over LAFLEUR.

The LAFLEUR reference discloses a method for filling synthetic resin containers (i.e. PET containers) comprising providing sterilized containers (see line 5 of Abstract), preliminarily sterilizing a content (see line 3 of Abstract), cooling the contents to normal (i.e. this would be returning the filled container to room temperature after the filling process), and filling the content under a temperature within a range of 25-60 degrees C as pointed out by Applicant on page 4 of the response filed 2/12/07. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to fill beverage at temperatures falling between 50 to 60 degrees C (if not already), since it has been well settled and held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. See In re Aller, 105USPQ 233.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 2/12/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In regard to Applicant's argument that the Lafleur reference fails to disclose filling the content in the synthetic resin container while maintaining a temperature .... (see page 4, first and second full paragraphs), Examiner disagrees. Examiner takes the position that since the beverage is cooled to a temperature range below that in which resin containers deform under the action of excessive heat prior to transferring the cooled liquid to a filler unit (as asserted by Applicant on page 3, lines 12-14; and page 5, lines 1-3 in Applicant's remarks) it would only make sense that maintaining this desired temperature range would be inherent and implied during normal use and operation of the system. Furthermore, if a lapse of time between cooling the liquid and filling a container would be such that the temperature would rise above to a level in which resin containers deform, the purpose in which the liquid was cooled to begin with (i.e. to prevent deformation) would be destroyed.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
